

Participation of Alumni in the University level committees

The participation of alumni in university-level committees plays a crucial role in shaping the overall development and success of an institution. Alumni, being former students of the university, bring a wealth of knowledge, experience, and a deep connection to their alma mater. Their involvement in committees strengthens the bond between the institution and its graduates and provides valuable insights for decision-making processes.

Alumni representation in governing bodies, such as the board of studies or the university senate, IQAC Committee, orientation program ensures that the voices of past graduates are heard in strategic decision-making processes. They bring a long-term perspective to discussions, considering the institution's legacy and the interests of future generations of students. Alumni can provide insights into the relevance and effectiveness of the existing curriculum based on their experiences in the professional world. Their input helps ensure that academic programs align with current industry trends and meet the needs of the job market. This engagement fosters a sense of community and pride among graduates, strengthens alumni networks, and enhances the institution's reputation in the wider world.

Our Alumnus Mr Shakti Singh Shekhawat BTech EEE (Assistant Manager, Birla Corporation, Chittorgarh) has an active member of IQAC, Mewar University.
